3rd June, 1937.

Dear Sir,

In continuation of my letter dated 29th April, 1937, I beg to say that I have this day applied to Government for permission to edit, print and publish an English WEEKLY styled, "FEDERAL INDIA & INDIAN STATES." I have herewith appended a copy of the application submitted to the Chief Secretary to Government in that regard, for kind submission to the Dewan.

I beg in this connection to add nothing more than this: that I shall strive my level best to run the Journal at as high a standard of journalistic excellence as possible; and that nothing that I write therein will ever cross the bounds of moderation and restraint. In short, I propose to run it on similar lines as of "The Indian Social Reformer" of Bombay, or "The Servant of India" of Poona, and certain standard British weeklies.

I beg to request if it would be possible to have the permission prayed for granted by about the 12th instant, suspending such formalities as referring the matter for Police Report and the like, in my favour and oblige.

I would, if required, present myself before the

The only request I would be making of the Dewan would be for the grant of some remunerative advertisements and the advance purchase of a certain number of copies of the Journal by the Government. I would, in due course, after issual of the journal, be applying to several of the other States' Governments as well, for their patronage.

I shall, whenever commanded to do so, pay my humble and dutiful respects to the Dewan in person.

Thanking you, and with regards,

Need For Play Grounds

The pressing need for more play grounds and facilities for children to grow into healthy manhood was put forward none too early by Mr Manickavelu Mudaliar the other day in his address to Sir Mirza M. Ismail, when he opened the Rotary Club Hospital Fete. The need for a stadium in this beautiful City of Bangalore is being brought to the attention of the powers —that —be year after year; and if we remember right, definite proposals were put through last year while the Olympiad in Germany was in full swing. We are emphatic in our opinion that the healthy growth of school children depends entirely on the right kind of food given to them and the facilities for care-free play in the open-air. The suggestion made by Mr. H. Srikantaiya, whose communication on this subject appears on another page, to give milk food to children, on the model of England and South Africa, during the midday interval, and if we may be permitted to state at State expense, is a very laudable idea. The "Model State" of Mysore, we are confident, with the City Milk Supply Company under the able management of Mr. M. V. Krishnaswami ready to supply pure pasteurised cow's milk, will strive its best to supply at least free milk to children in the absence of compulsory Free Elementary education. The milled, polished rice is dealing a slow tortuous death to the majority of the subjects, and if only the prosperous State of Mysore would translate our suggestion into action, the poor man's child who has no supply of Vitamins in his food to make him healthy, e.g., in milled rice and white flour and other milled cereals, will be benefitted by the calcium, iodine, and the important life-sustaining vitamins supplemented in the milk. If with the free supply of pure pasteurised cow's milk the children are to be provided with play grounds interspersed at convenient centres within the Municipal limits acting as lung-spaces in congested localities, and indigenous, but forgotten games natural to the genius of Indians are to be revived on the lines in which Mr G. S. Dutt, I.C.S., is doing in Bengal through his marvellous Brata chari movement which has exacted a world wide support and appreciation, we are certain that the India of the future will have sufficient cause to be proud of her healthy children and youth growing into virile manhood.

In this connection we would like to draw the attention of the authorities both in the C. & M. Station and the City that the book of games published in Tamil by Mr K. S. Venkataramanan, M. A., Physical Director, C. & M. Station, Education Department, and a student of Professor Buck, Director of Y.M.C.A Physical Culture Institute, Madras, wherein some thing about 120 indigenous games are given with instructions how to teach them to children and which happily do not need any such costly apparatuses and appliances as the Cricket, or Tennis. The games suggested therein are rhythmic ones, that cost very little to the institution, irrespective of their quality and their quantity. India, in consonance with her present outlook of revival of the past native traditions that gave her a distinct place in the comity of nations in the past and an individuality from which shone her ancient glory contributing to the sum total of world's civilisation and progress, would do well to revive her indigenous games in all the educational institutions and by providing more playgrounds instead of allowing them to play on the roads throwing themselves to the sweet mercy of the whizzing motor cars, rash cyclists and such other dangers that abound in a city life to-day We trust and hope that both the C & M Station and City authorities will apply themselves seriously to this problem of training the youth to live a healthy life.

Need For More Play-Grounds

THE DEWAN'S IMPASSIONED PLEA

"Observer" writes :—I daresay, the public of Mysore have, by now studied the speech delivered by Sir Mirza M. Ismail on the occasion of the opening of the Bangalore Rotary Hospital Week Exhibition and pondered over the wise suggestions impregnated therein. On my part, no part of the speech impressed me more than the one which stressed the need of more play-grounds and a Stadium for Bangalore. Let us all hope and pray that the authorities concerned as also the philanthropically disposed public would take the clue from the afore-said speech delivered by Mysore's most beloved of Dewans and further enhance the prestige and glory of the State thereby.

Not only this; let me submit that there is need for more gymnasiums as well. It is very essential that every High School—every Middle School also, if possible—should in addition to its having a playground of its own, be enabled to have a gymnasium well-equipped with up-to-date appliances and apparatus. If well co-ordinated efforts in this regard were to be made by the members of the Staff of the several educational institutions in the State, as also the non-official public, it should not be impossible to have the needful done. For instance, a considerable portion of the funds required may be raised by the members of the staff and students of each educational institution by putting up variety entertainments and shows of this kind.

I now come to the crux of the problem and it is this: The average student, whether of the High School or the Collegiate Standard, is woefully underfed and underclothed, and consequently it is hardly possible for him to take to physical exercises which his more opulent brother can resort to with profit to himself. In fact a great majority of the student population of the State find it very hard to even commandeer the wherewithal required to study well and get through the several examinations in which they have got to appear. Let me submit that few men have, perhaps, had better opportunities of studying this aspect of the problem than the present writer and it is therefore his prayer to both the authorities concerned and the philanthropic public to provide our students with healthy food during their lunch intervals at the schools and Colleges. Let me emphatically submit that unless the Government and the public of the State solve this aspect of the problem, it would be futile for them to expect the emergence of a visible and loyal race of strong-minded men and women out of our educational institutions.

May I earnestly beseech the Government and the public to ponder over this matter?

Dear Mr Kesavaiengar.

Mr. H. Srikantia, Visveswarapuram, Bangalore City, has written to ask the Resident for a message for his new newspaper "Federal India & Indian States". I am desired to ask whether you would be so good as to inform me whether, having regard to the status of Mr. Srikantia and the probable status of his newspaper, it would be suitable for the Resident to accede to his request. Would you kindly reply in a day or two?

Yours Sincerely,

A Rangachar

For perusal. A reply may be sent that the request may be complied with.
I don't think the Resident must comply. as it would encourage similar requests from others.
